Alleged spies in Iran named

United Press International

WASHINGTON — An anti-espionage publication has released a list of Americans and Iranians with alleged ties to the CIA.

Intelligence sources said the list — whether authentic or fabricated — would turn the persons into marked men.

The Central Intelligence Agency had no official comment on the list, which is to appear in Counterspy, a publication that went out of business last year. Counterspy announced it plans to return with an article on alleged CIA-Pentagon plans to restore Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi to power.

In a news release on the scheduled issue, Counterspy said yesterday it had the names of eight CIA agents in Iran and 39 Iranians who have received police, narcotic-control and other training by the CIA in the United States. The news release included the list.

Counterspy said it released the information "in the interest of the American and Iranian people ... to alert them in time to respond to this emergency."
